

Link To the repository: <https://github.com/brukernavnD/Algoritmer-Datastruk.git>

Explanation

Understanding of data structures and recursion

Recursion is an iterative process in which information is processed with the same instructions until you hit an endpoint where there is no need for further recursion.

Data structures are ways of storing data on a computer so that it can be accessed and updated efficiently.

I've learned a bit about these concepts in programming 1 and 2 and I've had little difficulty with them so far.